A water tight case for basements

- Efficient use of land
- Greater returns from plot
- Fast build programme
 - Low energy, thermally efficient
- Provides flexible accommodation

With the high cost of land, developers and self builders are seeking ever more innovative ways to get more return on their investment. Economically, basements make sense offering a land and material efficient route to achieve this.

Waterproof Membranes

Waterproof Bituminous Spray

Waterproof Concrete

Qualified service throughout

Whether you're an architect, structural engineer, civil engineer or surveyor involved in the design chain, the water tightness of any underground structure demands the expertise of a specialist. Revisions to BS 8102 in 2010 will require all waterproofing schemes to be specified by a fully qualified CSSW.

Reassuringly, all of our senior staff are fully qualified, insurance backed CSSW consultants ensuring that your company PI remains completely protected.

Midland Tanking Ltd are there to help at the earliest planning stages, providing initial advice through to full waterproofing system specification.

Fort Dunlop

Expertise, Quality and Trust

We also offer independent troubleshooting for larger waterproofing and repairs of structural waterproofing design failures internationally. Remedial projects in the UK have included Fort Dunlop and The National Motorcycle Museum.

Midland Tanking Ltd is the region's most recommended basement specialist. This reputation has been achieved by consistently meeting the high standards of our customers and refusing to compromise on any aspect of the design, build or materials specification.

Don't just take our word for it!

The quality and competence of our work has been recognised by the following companies and organisations.

- The Basement Information Centre
- The Construction Guarantee Scheme
- Delta
- Oldroyd
- Köster Aquatechnik
- Wykamol
- Sika International
